General Comment

I do not want the Department of Labor or any governmental agency regulating any further my own management of my 401K or any retirement funds. I have worked hard my entire adult life to build what I have and it is not in the purview of the Federal Government to increase the amount of regulation on my account(s).

You may say that people like me aren't smart enough to properly plan for our retirement but I would suggest that the Federal Government get it's own financial house in order before telling me how to plan for my life.
